

GrainBridge Privacy Statement

At GrainBridge, your privacy is important. When you register an account on the GrainBridge website (the "Website"), we will collect certain personally identifiable information (such as name, address and phone number) necessary to establish your account so you can transact grain trades. We use various security measures to ensure the safety of your personally identifiable information from unauthorized use.

The personally identifiable information we collect may be used by us to establish an account, execute grain trades and provide related services, marketing and promotional campaigns. When personally identifiable information is required or requested, you will have the option to "opt-out" of any promotional marketing. However, if you specifically request marketing or promotional information, then personally identifiable information will be used to provide such promotional marketing.

One unique feature of GrainBridge is our dealer program, in which dealers assist grain producers with establishing accounts and placing grain trades. The dealer program is optional. If you chose to register your account through a dealer, you will have the option to allow your dealer to have access to certain personally identifiable information and information regarding your grain trading activity. You will also have the option to restrict your dealer from having access to such personally identifiable information and information regarding your grain trading activity.

Other features offered by GrainBridge include various communication technologies including text messaging and email. You may use these communication technologies to enhance your use of the Website, but you may not use them to execute trades outside of the Website or to avoid fees otherwise payable to GrainBridge. By using the Website, you agree to allow GrainBridge to monitor your use of the Website, including, but not limited to, your trades and your use of the communication technologies. However, we will not share this information with any third parties without your prior consent.

GrainBridge may, from time to time, use general information regarding pricing, trading volume, commodity types traded, location of commodity deliveries, and other data (the "Data") provided by users of the Website. The Data will not contain any personally identifiable information about you. GrainBridge owns the Data and may license, sell or otherwise provide the Data to third parties.

GrainBridge may use "cookies" to track use patterns and preferences of its Website users. Cookies are files sent from GrainBridge to your computer. These files do not harm your computer, nor do they permit the disclosure of personally identifiable information. GrainBridge may collect and use statistical information (but not personally identifiable information) from cookies.

To enhance the services available to you, the Website may contain links to other websites not controlled by us. You are responsible for protecting your personally identifiable information when you visit another website or use another third party service.

GrainBridge reserves the right to modify this Privacy Statement at any time by posting the revised policy on the Website, which shall be effective at the time it is posted.